Dear Graduates,

The stage is set, there is a full house in the audience, the band is poised and ready to strike that very first note, the lights begin to shine and now you must step into the spotlight. It is time to let go of your jitters, let the butterflies settle their wings as you lift your head to the stars remembering you have now joined the ranks of the famed Arts High alumni.

The lessons you have learned in the last four years, every step, every note, every word spoken, every brush stroke and every camera shot, have prepared you for this moment. Trust that you have what it takes; believe in yourself more than I believe in you. Step out onto that stage and Sing like the world is listening, Dance like the world is watching, live life to the fullest, and dare to continue dreaming. Let no one be your dream killer, take every challenge that comes your way by storm and conquer every naysayer you meet along your path. Be persistent and remain committed to your craft.

The road will become rocky, I can promise you that, there will be times when you want to quit and give up, I promise you that, but we as an Arts High family PROMISE to forever be in your corner. We promise to continue to push you to the greatness you are destined for. Your ancestors, your parents, your teachers, your friends, and especially YOU, have been preparing for this moment...step out there and make us all proud!

Thank you for allowing me to be a part of this final year!

I love each and every one of you!

Ms. Lynn Irby Jackson
Ms. Lynn Irby Jackson
Principal

Graduates of the Class of 2012 share this milestone year with legends whose recent passings have left significant voids in the industry. The past four years have put each of you in the forefront to follow your dreams and the dreams of legendary singer and multi Grammy-winning artist Whitney Houston, iconic TV host and producer Dick Clark, legendary newsman Mike Wallace, promoter Don Cornelius and jazz and R&B legend Etta James to name a few.

I encourage each and every graduate to pursue your dream with the passion and hunger that led you to the doors of what is now your Alma Mata. Beam with pride for your fellow classmates who experience success and at the same time rise up and extend a helping hand to your brothers and sisters who may experience setbacks.

Congratulation and Good Luck!!!

Spreading Winter Cheer...

The Winter Fair is an exciting annual event for all art majors, from grades 9 through 12. The event takes place during the Winter Vocal concert. A large crowd comes together during this time. Current Visual Arts majors, Visual Arts alumni and teachers cooperate to raise money for the art department by selling artwork, clothing, food and seasonal knick knacks! This event is a great way to prepare for the upcoming seasonal holidays. Each art piece is priced accordingly by the students. Artist, friends, family and outsiders are welcomed in to buy pieces of art work.

Noche LATINA

Did you show off your dance moves?!

Arts High School's first annual Latin Night was definitely a night to remember. Latins showed their pride while dancing to latin music and sharing yummy latin flavors. Of course, people from all ethnicities were invited to spread the cheer.

Fiesta at Arts!!!

Feeling the music! Everyone having a good time with friends and learning how to dance that salsa!

DJ freestyle! Dance off in couples and singles from all grades and visitors.

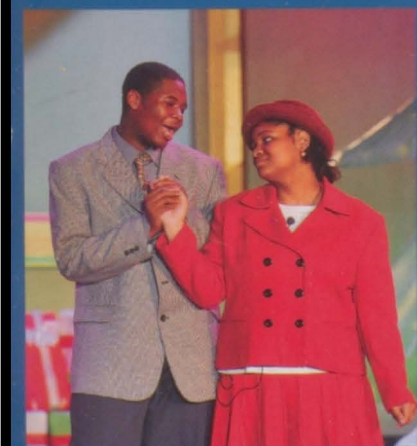

Go Miss Geddie! Go! Go!
While everyone kicks into bachata and merenge teachers join in on some Spanish fun with the students.

Drama Winter Production:

Uh-Oh Here

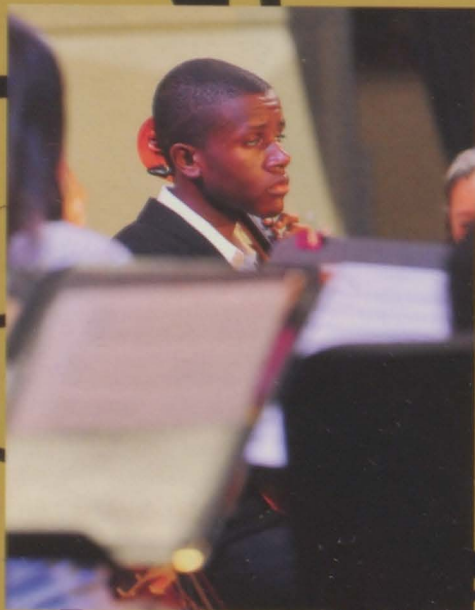

As a christmas treat the Arts High Drama department presented "Uh-Oh Here Comes Christmas" written by Robert Fulghum and directed by our own Leonora Rafua-Brazell. In this holiday cheer filled show the audience was taken on a journey of different stories, ranging from holiday mishaps to wonderful tear filled moments. Though this play had a wide variety of stories they all came together to make an amazing production. As audience members exited the auditorium comments ranged from "that was so amazing" to "oh no ! Christmas really is here!". The cast of the show included seniors Robert Collier, Juno Zago, Mallisa Hansen, Massiel Torres, Amir-Tony Carter, Robert Cabrera, Cashonda Pamplin, Natisha Dorche, Leonel Valerio, Ashley Koonce, Michael Negrón, and many more. With an end to the winter season, this play left us in anticipation for christmas.

Comes Christmas

Thailand Meets Newark

In Arts High history the Strings had their very first side by side concert with students from Thailand. Pieces played such as "Night on Bare Mountain" by Modest Petrovich Mussorgsky and "Ghost Carnival" by Erik Morales, set the mood of the Halloween theme when students from Thailand came for the concert. As one of the hardest pieces of the winter concert, Night on Bare Mountain, was also performed at the New Jersey Performing Arts Center with an audience of over 700 people! With an outstanding job the winter concert demonstrated all the hard work and success the AHS orchestra achieved in the school year 2011-2012.

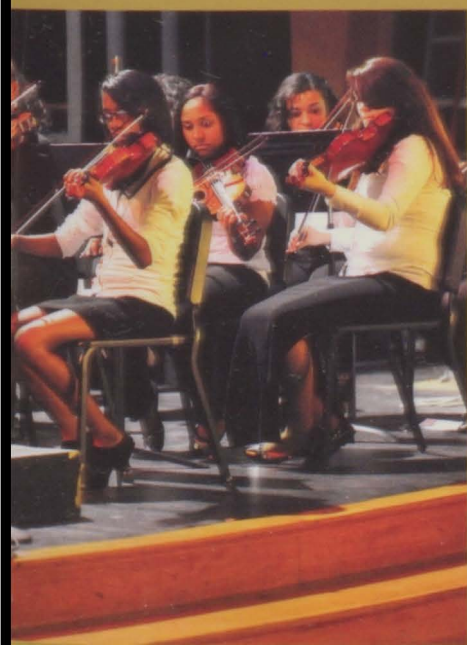

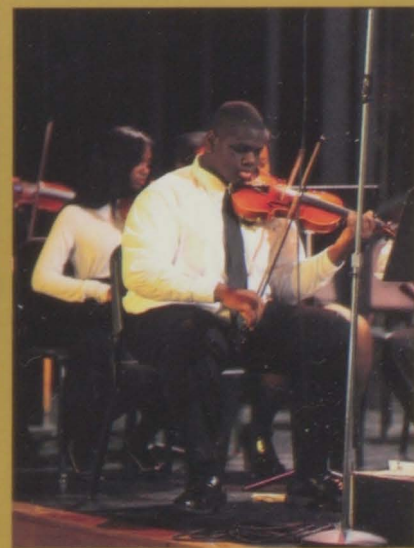

As the side by side concert with the students from Thailand is preformed it is lead by none other then our very own Arts High Concert Master Brianna King

Assistant Concert masters Najee Williams and Nathaniel Williams

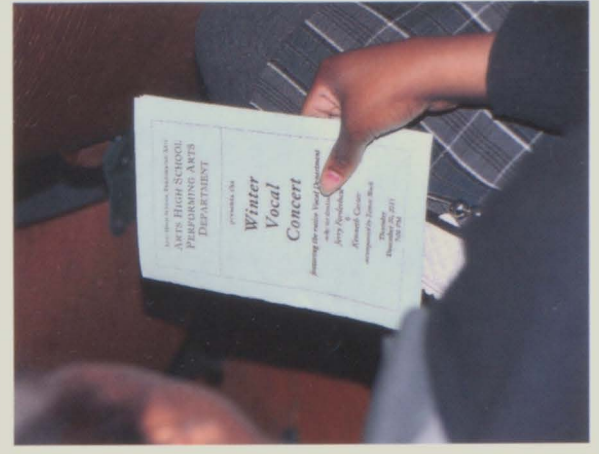

Winter Vocal Concert

Arts high school choir is known for our unique classical sounds, passion, and choice of classical music. The Vocal Winter Concert was a success! The concert was under the direction of Jerry Forderhase and Kenneth Carter accompanied by Tamar Bloch. There were different aspects of the show that were high lights. First off, our new principal, Ms. Irby Jackson, introduced us as artists and helped us to feel more comfortable as performers.

Our opening and major work was J.S. Bach "Magnificat" featuring all choirs. Followed by the freshmen choir, sophomore choir, advanced & sophomore men, advance choir, advanced women, advanced & sophomore women and lastly combined choirs. This concert incorporated not only classical music but also a Nigerian christmas song "Betelehemu" which was performed by the advanced and sophomore men. In closing, all choirs performed the classic "We Wish You a Merry Christmas" by Arr. Arthur Warrell making the winter concert a show to remember!

The Legendary....

Melba Moore!

Known for her chart toppers of "Falling" and "A Little Bit More" which both were #1 hit singles, alumae Melba Moore returned home to Arts High where she was warmly welcomed by a range of performances. With the dancers passionately interpreting their pieces and verses of the catchy "You Stepped Into My Life" echoing through the auditorium, Moore truly felt at home.

We received an insightful interview with the illustrious Ms. Moore in which students experienced her true goofy yet classy self and learned all about the positives and negatives of the music industry.

By the end of the day, Arts was fortunate enough to have been graced with the sound of her beautiful voice, a reminder of the level of talent our school helped produce and still continues to nurture.

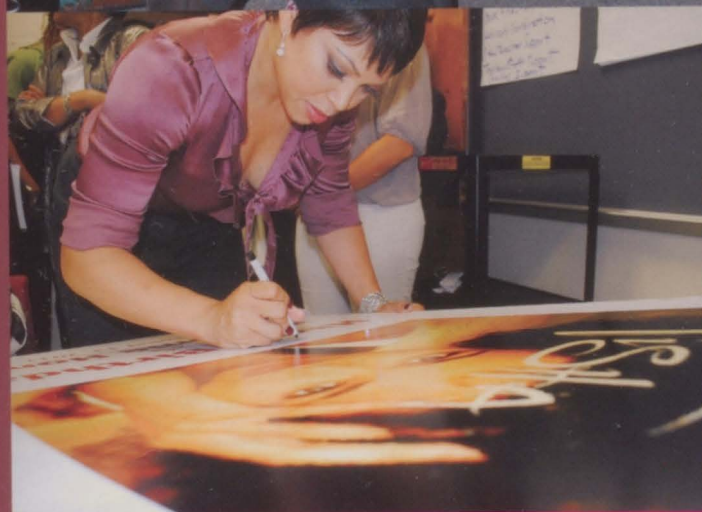

Arts High students had the privilege of having Ms. Tisha Campbell, of the class of 1986, pay a visit to her alma mater on her birthday.

Welcome Home

On October 13, 2011 Mrs. Campbell allowed us to join her in her birthday celebration. Arts High School had the honor of meeting an inspirational celebrity. She showed us that talent does come from our school, and we all have the chance of some day being in her position. Of course, none of us can replace the notorious actress. The protagonist of My Wife and Kids shared stories of her legacy and words of wisdom. She gave motivation to the aspiring performers of our school.

This year our soccer team has gone so far that MSG Varsity came to interview them and see them in action. Kicking it into high gear the team has shown what it takes to be great. From training on the field to in the gym there skills have been sharpened. With seniors on the team leaving both Ms. Kempe and both agree that the team has a great amount of talent to be found to help the team continue on its path.

YOU JUST GOT SERVED!

After an intense and hard working season, the Arts High School Lady Jags made it to The States with a record of 19-9 where they faced their toughest competitors, led by their fearless captains Jorgina and Elis-Laine. As a result of their hard work MSG Varsity did a report on the Lady Jags and broadcasted a few of their games on television.

The Essence of Running

Running is a road to self-awareness and reliance ... you can push yourself to extremes and learn the harsh reality of your physical and mental limitations or coast quietly down a solitary path watching the earth spin beneath your feet. But when you are through, exhilarated and exhausted, at least for a moment everything seems right with the world...

This year our basketball team came harder than we have ever seen before. By utilizing hardwork, dedication, and practice the team won 14 games this season, which was twice as much as last year's record. Before last year they had not won any games in 5 years. Outside of the gym the boys did community service projects. They also threw the first school party of the school year and donated two-hundred dollars to the senior class. Arts High School will miss our senior players Bell, Banner, English, and Eliga on the court. Coach Butler, who has been here for 2 years, basketball program will continue to train it's players to be hard works and scholars. Thank you for making Arts High School proud.

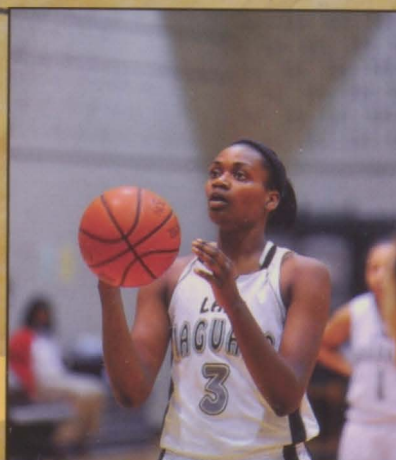

Girls Basketball

Playing my last season as a Arts High School Student was by far the best!! as a team we learned so much about ourselves and aswell as life. we won a lot of games, but lost to many because of our lack of focus and hustle. you would. you would think that we look forward to games. Practice was where we had the most fun. We sweat together, cried together, and even tell stories together. Coach Cotton and Healy always express the importance of practice and hustle, it doesn't matter how much talent you had without heart and desire you will lose every game you play. Arts High School has always been the underdog because all they believe we do is sing, act and dance , but we actually have good athletics here that can make it pro if they stay focus. The girls basketball team made it far actually to the third round in states though we lost I was very proud of my girls because I knew they tried their best and that's all you can ask for. I can honestly say I Love My Team!!

Lets show our spirit! As Class of 2012 we are next to march on. With crazy colors to no idea at all we will express ourselves through pur perceptions and ideas. Uniforms? They limit us to certain colors but the true Arts High Jaguars got style. our imagination flows through our veins and project into colors we like to call our art. Everyone has a different style but at the end of the day we all come together and are similiar in one way: we are the Arts High School Jaguars.

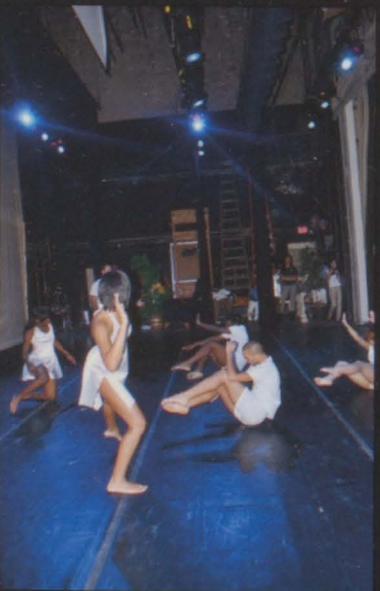

Dance

Start-Ledger winners
Whitney Perez and Jordaan Scott

From contemporary to jazz dance majors have taken the department to the next level. With seniors dedicated to making there craft as strong as professionals the dance department has blossomed into a challenging course with massive benefits.

Instrumental

After all of our years of playing instrumental music, we still enjoy a simple melody. Being an instrumental major at Arts High School has been a true gift. Learning day by day to be as good as we can be has taught us that any note is possible as long as we set our mind to it. Listening to the quality and tone of our work it is apparent to all that we have grown and blossomed to mature and gifted musicians. At the end of these four years we can truly say that our musical roots have been tested and defined to the true Arts High standards.

Leonora Brazell-Rafua Parting With 2012

Leaving with the class of 2012 brings my experience at Arts High School to full circle. It began when i was a student here and it completes itself with my service as a member of the faculty. i have enjoyed working with some of the most talented students in new jersey. it has been a true blessing to watch them grow into adults and take their places beside us as productive members of society. It has been a even greater pleasure to work with many of them as colleagues and fellow artist. My wish for the class of 2012 is that you strive for excellence in everything you do. reach back and give a "hand up" every chance you get. Raise the name of Arts High School and the city of Newark. My Best wishes for all your future endeavors.

Drama

Theatre is a safe place to do the unsafe things that need to be done. When it's not a safe place, it's abusive to actors and audiences alike. When its safety is used to protect cowards masquerading as heroes, it's a boring travesty. An actor who is truly heroic reveals the divine that passes through him, that aspect of himself that he does not own and cannot control. The control and the artistry of the heroic actor is in service to his soul.

We live in an era of enormous cynicism. Do not be fooled.

Don't act for money. You'll start to feel dead and bitter.

Don't act for glory. You'll start to feel dead, fat, and fearful.

We live in an era of enormous cynicism. Do not be fooled.

You can't avoid all the pitfalls. There are lies you must tell. But experience the lie. See it as something dead and unconnected you clutch. And let it go.

Act from the depth of your feeling imagination. Act for celebration, for search, for grieving, for worship, to express that desolate sensation of wandering through the howling wilderness. Don't worry about Art. Do these things, and it will be Art.

-John Patrick Shanley

Visual

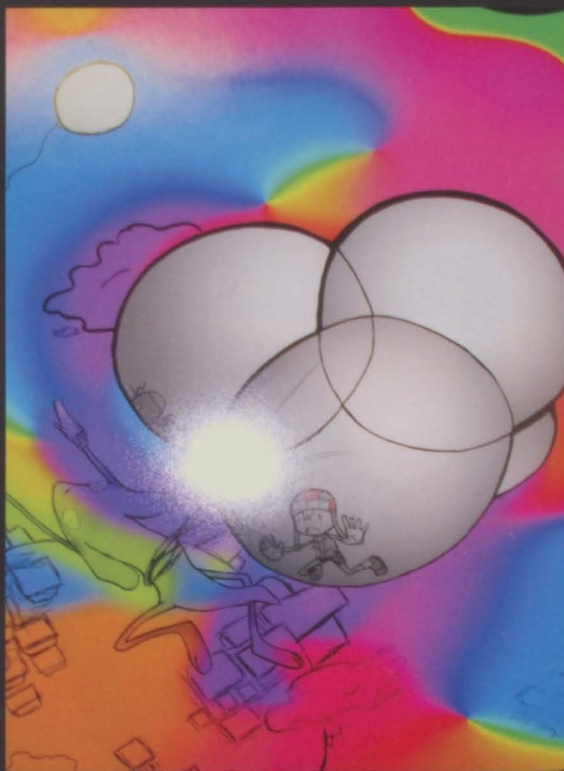

This year, the senior Fine Art Majors had their last art gallery opening. Ending it with a bang, this year's exhibition was curated after a grueling judging process took place. As a result only each student's best work made it into the gallery, for a huge opening enjoyed by students, teachers, family and many other important outside visitors. This stunning exhibit lasted two weeks and marks the closing of a great chapter for all senior Fine Art Majors.

Arts

Every senior Visual Arts major has made tremendous strides in their artistic abilities since freshman year. As the largest major of the senior class, we have all worked together through helpful hints and constructive criticism to produce beautiful and eye catching work. Our teachers, all of which are currently practicing artists, have been there every step of the way to help us find our groove and put our flare into our artwork. We have all worked as a unit to motivate and inspire one another. Although creating artwork is a difficult task, we have all made it through these four years and many different types and styles of art. Not only have we learned to use the elements and principals of design to create a successful body of art, we have also learned life lessons that will last us a lifetime.

The class of 2012 Fashion students at Arts High School have acted as curators of their current exhibition “Eleganza”, interpreted as contemporary fashion styles in an elegant extravaganza. The students were committed to developing and implementing personal concepts inspired by various facets of the fashion industry including fashion illustration, analyzing, pitching fabrics and textures and advertising/merchandizing. This is most evident through illustrations by Yaritza Diaz who synthesized contemporary illustrators with her own perspective bridging the gap between historical and contemporary illustrations. Karen Leon concentration flips the script on traditional collage and ordinary advertisements, by creating fascinating metallic collages involving intricate detail and digital technology which indirectly exposes underclassmen to the endless possibilities of current art trends. Ana Rita Noriega combines hard metals with the feminine curves of the body to convey a style reminiscent of textile design while investigating materials most often associated with hard surfaces, revealed with softness and beauty. Look for there work in the future of major museums and gallery’s as they continue to evolve as visual thinkers.

VOCAL

Oh Arts High

“Doc is very demanding, and that's what makes him such an excellent teacher and friend. He will push you to your limit, and in the end the rewards are unspeakable. I have never in my life met someone so kind, had no idea they existed.”

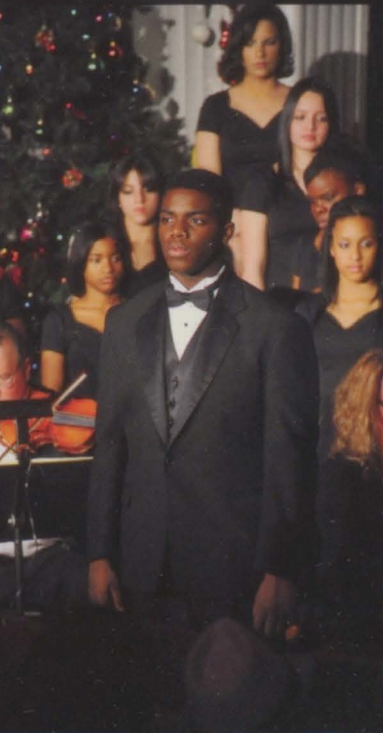

The audience was in awe and full of parents and friends awaiting the much anticipated vocal concert.

“Carter, you are a very influential musician. I love your enthusiasm and passion, it really pushes me closer toward my dream as a music educator and composer. You're the best!”

T.V Production

With dedication and commitment to their major the senior T.V production students created work that was incorporated in Gala of 2011. With hard work and tremendous knowledge senior Ratasha Morse Received A 1000$ scholarship for her Parody of TV show "1000 Ways To Die" . Along with individual talent the TV major also managed to produce a quality show every morning in homeroom through jaguar journal. With insight in media, cooking, and daily news. It goes without saying this TV production crew will truly be missed here at Arts High School.
